13 December 2017

Summary Report

The 2018 CPDP conference and its importance was discussed, given the presence of stakeholders. The conference takes place in Brussels on 24-26 January 2018, with the Code of Conduct for Health Research panel taking place on Friday 26 January 2018. The format of the panel session was agreed upon, with focus on an interactive approach to enable a dialogue with the audience. Potential panellists were suggested. A representative from a patient organisation was highlighted. Further conferences to present and share the Code were discussed, including the international 2018 ISBER Annual Meeting in May in Dallas, US and the European Forum for Good Clinical Practice on 20-21 February in Brussels. The importance of sharing the development of the Code within the wider health research community was highlighted.

Upcoming deadlines and meetings were discussed, in preparation for the telephone conference and the face to face Drafting Group meeting in Brussels in January 2018. Texts are to be shared prior to these meetings in order to enable first drafting of the Code of Conduct at the meeting.
